County adopts sewerage ordinance

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County supervisors have adopted a sewerage ordinance that requires Health Department approval before any new business or residential construction takes place, or any mobile home can occupy a lot.

The ordinance was adopted 4-1 Monday and will take effect countywide within 30 days. The legislation, agreed to by Coast Electric and Mississippi Power Company, directs the companies and other utilities not to hook up power, gas or water on a lot "without the prior written approval of the Hancock County Health Department as to the sufficiency and availability of a sewage treatment and disposal system" at the location.

The same restriction has been enforced in the low-lying flood prone areas south of Interstate 10 for years, but

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward pushed for adoption of the ordinance countywide after warnings from the Health Department that Hancock County faced a health crisis because of the amounts of raw sewage being dumped into the area ditches and waterways.

Coward managed to get approval, although at least three supervisors had some reservations about extending the restrictions countywide.

"How long are we going to continue to allow raw sewage to run into ditches? These are Third World conditions..."

Health Department Supervisor Pansy Maddox

Rocky Pullman, whose District 3 includes Pearlington, said he would support the legislation only if supervisors petitioned the county's legislative delegation to find ways that would allow small communities to construct and maintain their own sewerage treatment plants.

NTF in peril

BY MARY G. SEILEY

A rumored rift in the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force mushroomed into fact Tuesday at a meeting of Bay St. Louis City Council.

County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson has sent a letter to the Board of Supervisors asking that the cooperative effort among the county and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland be dissolved. A copy of the letter, dated Aug. 12, was sent to Mayor Eddie Favre on Tuesday, catching city officials by surprise.

Contention over the operation of the task force had surfaced briefly Monday at the Bay council's workshop when there were questions over why the city has to pay the cellular telephone bill for its officer on the Task Force. Chief Frank McNeil replied that county officials who administer Task Force funds say such bills can't be covered by the Task Force account.

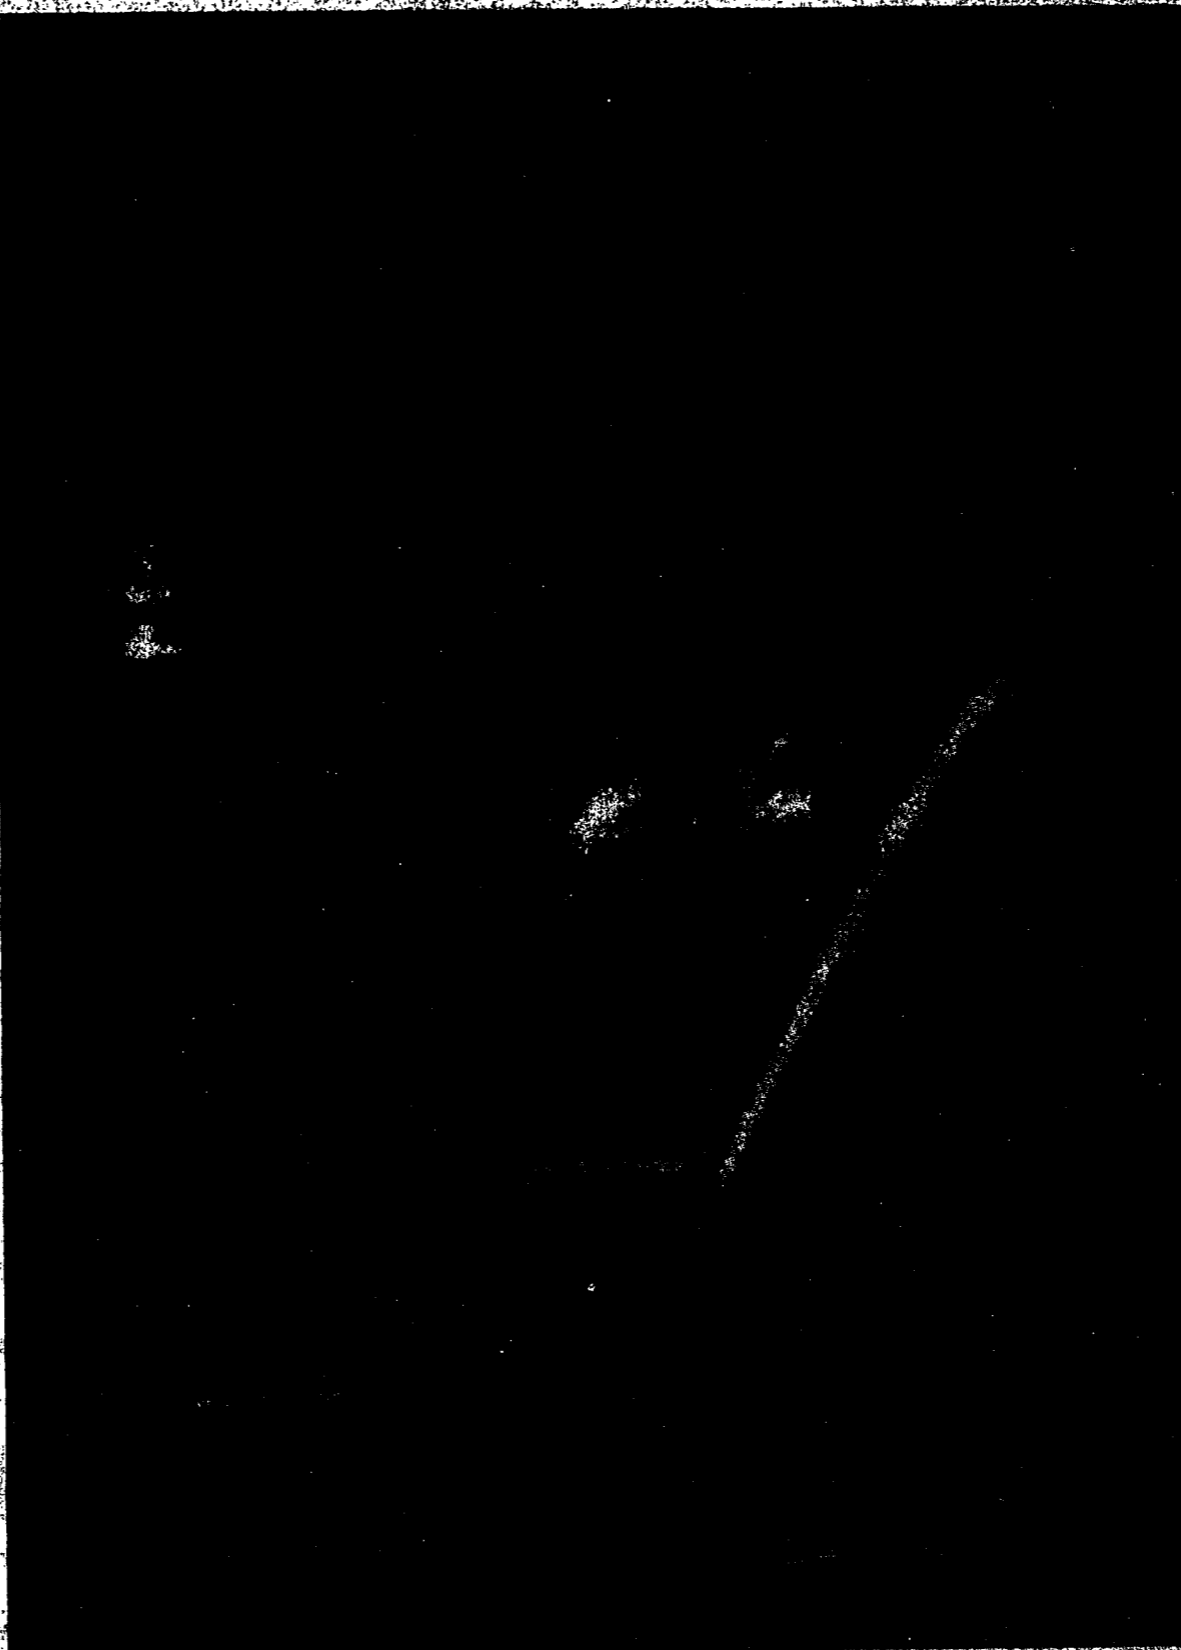

Council member James Thriffiley asked McNeil to get that statement in writing. And council member Connie Lampley asked McNeil if he knew anything about possible dissolution of the Task Force. He said he didn't.

Tuesday night, council member Carleen Moran came up with a computer printout from the county's comptroller, showing what Moran said were multiple cellular telephone bills that had been paid from the fund for the county's officer.

Records show the task force has some $120,000 it's collected in drug seizures over the past two years.

Moran said she brought the subject up in hopes the city could work to keep the task force

Fire destroys storage units

BY RICHARD MEEK

A spectacular fire that destroyed over 100 units of a mini storage warehouse is still under investigation, fire officials said.

Hancock County Fire Marshal Richard Pate said his office is working with the state fire marshal's office to investigate the fire.

The blaze at Universal Storage Warehouse in Waveland broke out about 3:30 p.m. on Saturday. A thick, black smoke covered the area, and repeated small explosions could be heard coming from inside the units.

Warehouse owner Charles Johnson Jr. said the fire totally destroyed 109 units. Of those, 83 were occupied.

Several nearby units suffered smoke damage, but Johnson said it is uncertain what the extent of damage is to the contents of those units.

Johnson said a damage estimate has not yet been established.

Firefighters from the Bay St. Louis and Waveland fire departments were able to prevent the fire from spreading to rows of units that were on either side of the destroyed row.

"The firemen are to be commended for preventing the fire from spreading further," Johnson said. "It could have been worse."

Three units and 13 firefighters from the Waveland Fire Department and one unit and three firemen from the Bay St.

Love triangle results in murder

BY RICHARD MEEK

Hancock County's fifth murder of the year was the result of a love triangle gone bad, Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said.

Peterson said on Sunday Donald Doyle, 71, of Pearlington, killed Emanuel S. Jones Sr., 70, of Pearlington, and wounded Vincent Jones, 48, also of Pearlington. Doyle later killed himself at his own home.

Quetta and Doyle were pronounced dead on arrival at Northshore Hospital in Slidell.

Jones was taken to Slidell Memorial Hospital and later transferred to Charity Hospital in New Orleans, where he is listed in good condition, Peterson said.

He added he suspects jealousy was Doyle's motive in the shootings. Peterson said Jones was reportedly in relationships with both women. Peterson said Jones was reportedly in relationships with both women.

For information, call 863-7108.

ST. ANN-ST. JOHN NEWS

CCD classes for children attending public school will be held from 3:30-5:30 p.m. in the parish hall.

Wednesday, Oct. 15, CYO members will meet in the parish hall from 6:30-8:30 p.m. All parish teens are invited to join this active group. If you are not yet a member, don't put it off another day.

The whole church is preparing to celebrate the end of the second millennium marking the birth of Christ. One can approach this important event in history of salvation in many ways. Those who staff the Shrine of St. Jude in New Orleans suggest that the intercession of the great apostle can help us develop the sentiments of gratitude and conversion appropriate for this milestone in time.

With this in mind, Father Kelly, pastor of St. Ann-St. John churches in Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore has invited Father Raymond Lebrun, OMI to come here from New Orleans in order to conduct a Novena in honor of Saint Jude at St. Ann starting Saturday, Oct. 11 and ending Sunday, Oct. 19.

Parishioners and friends are invited to attend. St. Jude is considered the patron of difficulty, seemingly hopeless cases. So do come with your biggest problems, and see what he can do with them as a powerful intercessor with Jesus. Novena booklets will be provided.

Former Echo publisher, N.Y. Post editor dies

Stanford L. Opatowsky, 73, a former managing editor of The New York Post and director of TV news coverage for ABC News, died Wednesday, Oct. 1, 1997, at his home in Orlando, Fla.

Mr. Opatowsky was born in New Orleans and began his career covering school sports for The Times-Picayune at age 14.

He was publisher of The Sea Coast Echo, 1952-55, a newspaper his family owned before joining the Post as a national reporter in 1955.

He attended Tulane University for two years before joining the Marines as a combat correspondent in World War II, covering the invasions of the Japanese-held islands of Saipan and Tinian.

Early in his career, he worked for United Press as a reporter in New Orleans, Denver and New York and was an assistant sports editor for the wire service.

He covered the school-integration crisis in Little Rock, Ark., and the assassination of President Kennedy, among other major events, for the Post. He was an assistant city editor and assistant managing editor before being named the Post's managing editor in 1965.

He left that position in 1972 to join ABC News, first as assistant assignment manager and then as director of operations for news documentaries. From 1975 to 1981, he was director of television news coverage.

In 1981, he became director of political operations and oversaw the network's election exit polling and voter tabulation. He also directed the computerization of various ABC News operations. He retired in 1992.

He wrote several books, including "The Longs of Louisiana" in 1960, "TV: The Big Picture," and "The Kennedy Government" in 1961 and "Men Behind Bars" in 1972.

Survivors include his wife, Martha Coble Opatowsky; a son, Peter Opatowsky; two daughters, Ann Opatowsky of Pasadena, Calif., and Kate Robbins of McCoy, Colo.; his mother, Fannie Latter Opatowsky of New Orleans; a brother, Mel Opatowsky of Riverside, Calif.; and a grandchild.

Services were private.

To register, call 466-3391 or 452-2161.

Coast Electric exception granted

BY ED LEPOMA

The Hancock County Planning Commission has given tentative approval for a special exception to the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance that will pave the way for Coast Electric Power Association to build a District Operations Facility in Kiln.

The Commission held its regular monthly meeting Sept. 2 to consider the request by Angel J. Cuevas Jr., to approve the special exception. Cuevas owns 26.8 acres of land at the northeast intersection of Hwy. 603 and Cuevas Road. The property fronts 750 feet on Hwy. 603 and 950 feet on Cuevas Road.

Coast Electric wants to build an operations facility that would include a warehouse, a general purpose building, a vehicle maintenance area and a yard for storing power poles.

The property lies in an area zoned partly C-1 "Neighborhood Commercial" and A-1 "Agriculture." Under the zoning ordinance, no type of construction yard could be located on part of the land that is zoned commercial without granting a special exception.

Commission attorney John Scafide said notices of the public hearing for the special exception were sent to neighbors and published in the Echo. The Commission received no written comments from citizens, and there was no one at the meeting who opposed the change.

The Commission granted "conditional approval" of the request, but Vice Chairman Skip Marsh said he wanted to see the proposed traffic access pattern, and the facility would probably require landscaping to buffer the site.

Marsh said he would prefer traffic on Cuevas limited to only light trucks and vehicles with major access from Hwy. 603. A Coast Electric spokesman said they will include access patterns when the firm comes back to the Commission with final design plans for the building.

John Holston, Coast Electric's manager of financial and administrative services, later told the Echo the facility would probably take about two years to build. Initially, about 30 employees would move to the new offices, with a work force of about 60 employees aboard within five years. Holston said administrative offices would remain off Hwy. 90 and Main Street, close to downtown Bay St. Louis.

In other business, the Commission voted to deny another special exception request that would have allowed Ruth Breazeale to place a mobile home on the east side of Hwy. 603 in Jourdan River Shores subdivision. The area is zoned R-1, "Single Family Residential."

Two neighbors opposed the trailer, claiming present zoning doesn't allow mobile home in the area, and if it were allowed, it would decrease property values.

The Commission approved a request by Sara Slaughter to place a mobile home on two lots on Pennsylvania Street in Shoreline Park. The area is zoned R-2, "Two family Residential, but trailers are allowed as a "conditional use."

Neil Smith, the Commission's newly appointed Zoning Enforcement Officer, told Commissioners he had toured the area, and it is surrounded by mobile homes, some of which are elevated on piers.

Slaughter said her trailer would take up two lots, and would meet elevation requirements, and would hook up to the existing sewerage system.

Commissioners voted to deny a request by Eugene Herr to construct a landing pad for a camper trailer on a lot in Heron Bay Estates that is currently zoned Two Family Residential.

Commissioner Chris Ladner said there is no sewerage available and the area can't support a septic tank system.

Teen art contest

Bay St. Louis dentist, Dr. Frank Conaway, is sponsoring an art contest for teens of the local high schools.

The students are asked to paint ceiling tiles which will be displayed in Dr. Conaway's office for patients to enjoy.

The tiles will be displayed at the Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis (main branch) on Saturday, Oct. 25 at 1 p.m.

A panel of three local judges will select a winner from each participating school. Each winner will be awarded a $100 savings bond.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It was a great day in Kiln on Wednesday morning with the ribbon cutting for the new post office.

The most modern U.S. Post Office should serve the people of north Hancock County for many years to come.

It took a lot of effort in the securing of a new post office at Kiln. Not long ago there was even talk about eliminating a postal facility in the community.

Isn't it ironic at this time that now Kiln/Fenton is the fastest growing area of Hancock County?

In all probability the Kiln Post Office is unique in that the property for the facility was donated as a public service.

The property was donated by the families of Richard Olsen Kolstad, Gustave Miller, Ludwig Peter Peterson and Jerry Max Peterson, all long-time residents of the Kiln.

There were a large number of Kiln residents, postal officials and local officials at the ribbon cutting.

Washington was represented by Beau Gex, district director for U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor and Robbie Maxwell, senior field representative for U.S. Senator Trent Lott.

On Monday of this week, Gex reported that a bill was introduced by Congressman Taylor to name the facility in memory of long-time former Kiln Postmaster Ray Joseph Favre. The process will probably take about a year to be completed Gex indicated.

Billie Faye Lyons, president of the North Hancock Business & Professional Association gave the welcome address and was assisted by Cindy Vernon, chamber executive director.

Flag raising was performed by members of the Hancock High ROTC and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Johnnie Richard.

Mary Ann Richards, manager, Postal Operations of South Mississippi, welcomed everyone on behalf of the postal system.

A lot of acknowledgements were made, as many folks were involved in making the new post office a reality.

All residents of the Kiln area have a very nice facility. Postmaster Rick Baker and his assistant Opal Bennett can be very proud of their new facility.

As high school football rolls into its seventh week of the season, the Hancock High Hawks are 5-0 and will be seeking victory number six against Oak Grove in District play at Oak Grove.

Hancock has played very exciting games this season under the leadership of head coach Rocky Gaudin.

There should be a lot of Hawk supporters in the stands at Oak Grove Friday night.

The Pirates of Pass Christian at 4-1 are enjoying their best season in several years, and they will be at Perry Central Friday night.

Pass Christian is really fired up this season and is showing the team support which had really fallen off for several seasons.

New head coach Gavin Lott, along with his coaching staff has really put things together for the Pirates.

There should be a lot of Pirates supporters in the stands at Perry Central tomorrow night.

Both Bay High and St. Stanislaus will be seeking their first victory of the season Friday night in away games.

Bay High will be going up against Petal in Petal while Stanislaus will be traveling to Pearl River Central.

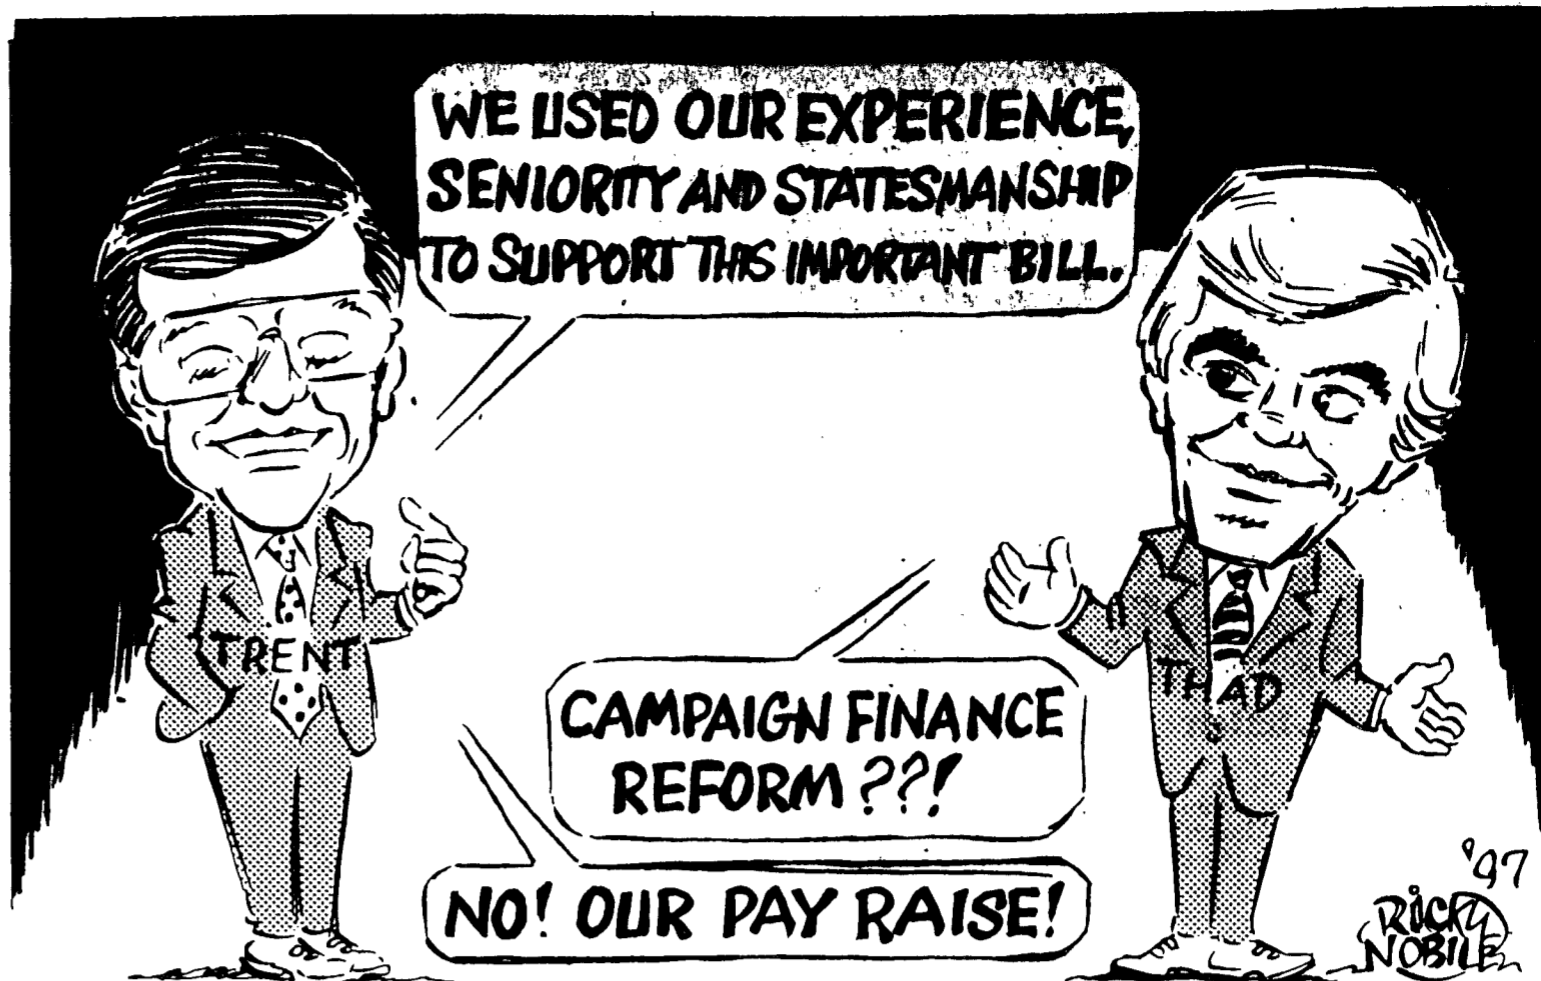

The Tigers have lost some very close games this year and could, with some great play, bring victory home over Petal Friday.

The Rocks need to get some points on the board as they have only scored a total of 20 in six games this season.

Hopefully Bay High and St. Stanislaus will find the right combinations to bring victories home Friday.

Best of luck Friday to the Hawks, Tigers, Rocks and Pirates.

We hope to see you at the game.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'Dirty laundry' irks reader

Dear Ellis:

Recently I purchased an edition of the Sea Coast Echo. As I was reading the court dockets a name appeared before me that was almost identical to mine.

When I called you to ask how I could clear up any mistake in identity, you told me how people are always calling you, as early as 5 a.m., because they get your phone number instead of an Ellis Cuevas who owns horses.

Well, I checked. You are not even listed in the telephone directory and neither is the other Ellis Cuevas. You are not very good at trying to reason why you are airing people's dirty laundry in the newspaper.

As I pondered my dilemma I wondered why you do not print the good things in people's lives, such as: getting the list from the cities of who is moving and having their water turned on, or who has applied for a marriage license, or who purchased a license for a new business or building permits or to burn their trash.

There is an abundance of "good news" that would not hurt anyone's reputation. Of course, in your little feeble mind, that doesn't sell newspaper.

Well, I'll tell you what Ellis, you won't be selling a newspaper to anyone that I associate with. I don't reward journalism that is in bad taste.

Sincerely,
Joan C. Bennett

Reader says Bay casinos will cause higher taxes

Dear Editor:

Recently an article stated Harrison County taxes had been lowered because of the casinos. They gave the new tax figure for a home valued in the $80,000 range.

Those Harrison County taxes were higher than the taxes in Hancock County for a home valued at $100,000. The casinos and their supporters are making money for themselves.

There are also a lot more people needing services, and so, Harrison County pays more taxes.

People trying to stop casino development in the Bay of St.

Louis should not be reduced to mere "tree huggers." The protest is far more important than "tree hugging" and warrants respect, not ridicule.

To destroy these beautiful wetland areas would be unconscionable. Please, take a ride in your car, go out in a boat, look at what you want to replace with concrete and neon flashing lights.

Do you really want to destroy something so beautiful, just so you can be like Harrison County and have a casino row, and pay higher taxes?

Fire Services chief says burning ban still in effect

To the Editor:

We have a no-burning ban in Hancock County and have had one in effect in Hancock County since Oct. 2, 1997. People are not paying attention to this no-burning ban, and as a result we are getting numerous phone calls.

We are in a very dangerous situation in Hancock County because there has been no rain in two months. If people do not stop burning, we will start putting people in jail, and they will be paying some hefty fines.

We are very serious about this, and we would appreciate everyone helping in this matter.

The ban will not be lifted until we get a substantial amount of rainfall in Hancock county.

Kiln-Picayune Road resident urges speed limit enforcement

Dear Editor:

I would like to voice my personal opinion about the dirt trucks that travel down Kiln-Picayune Road at 50 mph in a 35 mph zone.

We have a lot of small children playing along this road. My boys and I recently lost our dog due to these speeding trucks.

But my real concern is about our children along this road.

There are a lot of blind turns on this road, that's why the speed limit is 35 not 50 or faster. I sure with the speed limit, was enforced better on the side roads.

Pass resident feels casino would destroy wetlands

Re: The proposed casino on Bayou Portage.

I totally support the position of the Secretary of State in denying a tidelands lease for the casino.

It is absurd to even consider that we should destroy our precious wetlands in order to build yet another gambling casino.

Very truly yours,

Support at storage fire appreciated by staff

To the Editor:

On behalf of Universal Mini Storage Inc., my staff and I wish to commend the Waveland Fire Department, the Waveland Police Department, the Bay St. Louis Fire Department, and the many volunteers who fought heroically and tirelessly to protect the safety of human lives and to contain the fire which destroyed Building 618 of Universal Mini Storage Inc. on the afternoon of Oct. 4.

We at Universal Mini Storage Inc. are deeply grateful for their hours of hard work and nightly vigilance and for the dedication demonstrated by these professionals.

For responding in our time of need in a manner most commendable of their respective professions, we thank them.

Fire prevention top priority in Waveland

Special to the Echo

Every year, hundreds of children age 14 and under die in home fires — 90 percent in homes that don't have working smoke detectors, according to the United States Fire Administration.

"Many parents mistakenly believe that their children will know how to react in a fire. Unfortunately, many children do not," said Chief David Garcia of the Waveland Fire Department.

Young children will often hide under beds or in closets to escape the fire, while older children think they can put it out.

"We think educating children about fire safety and encouraging them to talk with their parents about it is an important part of our mission. That's why we will be teaching the Junior Fire Inspector Program, sponsored by First Alert, at St. Clare and Waveland Elementary schools," said Chief Garcia.

BRK Brands/First Alert, the inventors of the first residential smoke detector 25 years ago and the leader in home safety products launched the Junior Fire Inspector Program nationally in 1994.

The program has already reached millions of grade school children. These educational materials are designed for children ages 6-10 and will provide life saving fire safety education free of charge courtesy of First Alert.

Students who finish the lesson and take home fire safety checklists will be sworn in as Junior Fire Inspectors by Chief Garcia.

As Junior Fire Inspectors, the children will take an oath to clean and test their smoke detectors once a month, never play with matches and report all fires or fire hazards to an adult immediately.

Children will also help their parents develop a fire emergency escape plan. The students will receive a Junior Fire Inspector Badge, a notebook divider with fire safety tips and certificate upon completing the program. The Junior Inspectors will also be given a first assignment of checking their own home for the hazards.

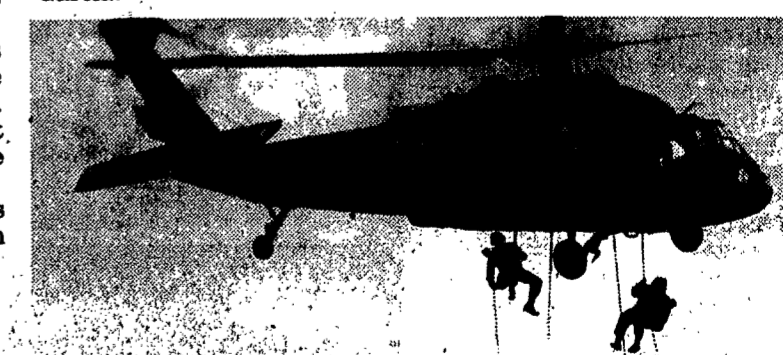

Chief Garcia would like to remind everyone the National Fire Prevention Week is Oct. 5-11. The theme this year is "Know When to Go! — React Fast to Fire."

Everyone should check their smoke detectors and practice their home escape plan.

Chief Garcia states that fire prevention within the City of Waveland is a year-round effort by the Waveland Fire Department to help prevent the loss of lives and property due to the devastation of fire.

To arrange for a class within the Waveland area, call 467-2042 and ask for Chief Garcia or Captain Mike Smith.

Chief Garcia advised last year during Fire Prevention Week alone, 1,200 local children learned how to draw and practice a home fire escape plan, stop, drop and roll technique, how to use 911, how to test a smoke detector, how to conduct home hazard hunts, and much more.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

Pat Morgan, the new president of the Diamondhead Women's Club and her board had a great idea that grossed about $1,000 for one of the club's favorite charities, the Alzheimers Foundation.

It was party bridge at the Country Club, and the winners were Jenny Gregory, Dottie Doss and Kay Gillan. Peggy Clemmons had all winners as her group of about 24 bowled at the Park Ten Bowling Lanes, and last, but certainly not least, were those ladies who love to play canasta, nine in all, who "melded" for Alzheimers. It was a lot of fun for a good cause.

THE DUKES COME TO D'HEAD

This group has been performing that good ole New Orleans music for nearly a half century and are the oldest continually performing jazz ensemble in New Orleans.

The Diamondhead Performing Arts Society again brings wonderful entertainment to Diamondhead on Sunday, Oct. 19, 7 p.m. at the Academy's Roger's Hall.

Tickets are $15, $3.50 students/children at Diamondhead Discount Drugs and LL Ltd. Be ready to clap those hands and tap those feet. They're great.

CHRISTMAS IS AROUND THE CORNER

"Project Lights" hopes to light up Diamondhead again this year, but we really need your help to do it on Nov. 31. Please send your contributions to Project Lights, c/o Margaret Williamson, 8368 Maunalani Place. We welcome any size donation.

BE THERE, DON'T BE SQUARE

Old Town Bay St. Louis will transfer itself back to the 50s and 60s for you to rock, roll, remember and enjoy. So many fun things are planned for this Friday and Saturday, Oct. 10 and 11 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. on the 10th and 10 a.m. til on the 11th. Put on those poodle skirts and bobbie socks and come on down to Cruisin' on the Coast in Bay St. Louis.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

The Diamondhead Academy's Nature Trail project is underway again under the watchful eyes of master gardeners Pat LaNasa and Martha Campbell.

The 5th and 6th graders are learning all about the nurturing of butterflies and giving beautiful hummingbirds TLC. Many nature trail activities are planned for the year, such as construction of a compost bin, planting magnolia trees, building blue bird houses, learning to identify shrubs and plants, etc. There is a need for minimal supplies the children will need. Anyone wishing to help, call the school at 255-1784.

DON'T FORGET

The Diamondhead Garden Club meets next Wednesday, Oct. 15 at 10 a.m. at the community center. Guest Edie Driehar will outline the attractions of the Clower-Thornton Nature Area "right in our own back yard" in Gulfport. Remember any size donation is welcome to Project Lights.

A NICE LETTER

From Coast Electric Power Association to Diamondhead residents in regards to their clearing of trees, etc. from the electrical lines. Their letter states that they are mindful of the concerns as to the traditional methods of this annual task, and in the future have listed three new means of doing the job in the best interest of the residents in Diamondhead.

They state they will seek a balance between economics, reliability and aesthetics.

CONGRATS!

Diamondhead's POA Employee of the Month Award for September was given to Willie Gilmore. Willie is the individual you see cutting all that grass on all those very hot summer days.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

Near dawn beneath the birth and death of designated times, there is a moment God claims as his alone, to prepare a gift of his design.

When he is done he bids the sun to burn the night away, and all around the words rebound, I give to you now THIS DAY!

Fall is in the air. Enjoy these days til next week.

'Play Day' a success

D'head nature trail project

Last year the sixth grade class at Diamondhead Academy brainstormed the idea of developing an 800-foot nature trail winding through the woods beyond the school's playground.

They knew it would take hard work, time and resources to convert an old existing pathway into the nature trail of their dreams.

With the help of master gardener Patrick LaNasa they began planning a conjunctive project, consisting of a wildlife garden complete with colorful flowers. LaNasa worked diligently with the children to clear the majority of the first 200 feet.

They also planted spring annuals to lure butterflies and hummingbirds into their garden. This year, the new sixth grade class proposes to make the wildlife garden more permanent with the addition of perennials and blooming shrubs.

The 1997 sixth graders are on a roll with the ongoing nature trail project. Master gardener Martha Campbell has joined LaNasa in assisting the children with the butterfly curriculum, trail cleaning and the overall planning and development of the yearly goals and objectives for improvements.

This hands-on learning, living laboratory is extremely exciting. The 6th grade class with assistance from the 5th grade, determined to complete improvements and enhancements on this addition to Diamondhead Academy's campus.

On Sept. 5, LaNasa and Campbell met with the 5th and 6th graders to deliver butterflies that were nurtured and donated to the Academy by Diamondhead resident Doris Hope. Hope is a local expert in the area of butterflies and gardens. These butterflies were released on the site of the butterfly and hummingbird garden.

The children's first objective this fall is the construction of a compost bin. LaNasa has provided construction plans and will supervise the project, but he and the children need materials and supplies in order to engineer the building of the bin.

They need public help and support. If you will donate materials or money for this project (or know of someone who will), the fifth and sixth grade students will be able to reach their goal of completing the compost bin by the Oct. 15 deadline.

Other Nature Trail activities planned throughout the 1997-98 school year are: planting a Southern Magnolia every 100 feet along the trail. (They need eight three- to five-foot trees donated), building two bluebird houses, extending the wildlife garden and constructing a small bridge over a drainage area.

Those interesting in helping with supplies, call Diamondhead Academy at 255-1784.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Due to sanitation problems in Hancock County and due to areas that do not have proper sewage, and based on recommendations from the Mississippi Board of Health, as well as the danger of raw waste not being properly treated, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors hereby declares an emergency exist, and that the following Ordinance take effect 15 days from the date of passage, as follows, to wit:

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE DISPOSAL OF WASTEWATER AND SEWAGE IN HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi that all residences and establishments do not have adequate provisions for the proper disposal of wastewater and sewage treatment and disposal systems, and

WHEREAS, such residences and establishments which do not have such adequate provisions generally produce dangerous biological material which is a public health hazard, and

WHEREAS, measures exist which if properly applied eliminate this public health hazard by insuring the existence and use of onsite sewage treatment and disposal facilities, or connection to sanitary sewer disposal systems,

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT the following measures be implemented by the citizens of Hancock County, Mississippi, effective October 21, 1997.

1. From and after October 21, 1997, no person, business, corporation, association, partnership or other entity shall inhabit any dwelling house, trailer residence, business or other establishment where people reside, are employed, or congregate, without first having obtained approval from the Hancock County Health Department as to the sufficiency and availability of a sewage treatment and disposal system at such location.
2. No person shall suffer or permit utilities such as electricity, water, or natural gas to be connected, either on a temporary or permanent basis, to any new location in the County where such utility service has not been rendered without the prior written approval of the Hancock County Health Department as to the sufficiency and availability of a sewage treatment and disposal system at such location. The person applying for utility service shall then furnish at the time of request for utility service one permit covering approvals for both 1) new construction or mobile home site and 2) sewage compliance from the Hancock County Planning Commission/Building Official Office and no utility shall have any obligation to provide such service until such approval is furnished.
3. To this end, the Regulations Governing Individual Onsite Wastewater Disposal Systems of the Mississippi State Department of Health are hereby adopted as the official regulations of Hancock County with respect to the subject matter.
4. In order to effectuate the provisions of this ordinance, the Planning Commission/Building Permit Office of Hancock County is hereby directed to withhold issuing the persons or entities enumerated above without the prior written authorization of the County Health Department.

Adopted this the 6th day of October, 1997.

Published by order of the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, this the 6th day of October, 1997.

Supreme Court let stand ruling on elections

ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Supreme Court today let stand a ruling that a Mississippi county's system for electing its five supervisors and other officials illegally dilutes black voters' political clout.

The justices, without comment, rejected Attala County officials' defense of the current election system.

Attala County is governed by a five-member board of supervisors, and each supervisor is elected from a single-member district.

Although 35 percent of the county's voting-age population is black, only one of the five election districts has a majority of black voting-age residents.

No black candidate ever has won a contested election from a white-majority district.

After the 1990 census, Justice Department lawyers demanded that the county add a second district with a black voting-age majority.

Some black voters and the Justice Department sued the county in an effort to force creation of such a second district, but U.S. District Judge Glen Davidson ruled that they had failed to prove that voting in the county was racially polarized.

Such proof is a prerequisite for finding an illegal dilution of minority voters' rights under the federal Voting Rights Act of 1965.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals set aside Davidson's first ruling and ordered him to restudy the case. He did, and again ruled that no violation of federal law had been proved.

The appeals court last year reversed Davidson's second ruling as "clearly erroneous."

A three-judge panel of the 5th Circuit court said the trial judge "placed upon the plaintiffs the insurmountable burden of coming forward with evidence disproving all nonracial reasons that can explain election results in spite of the fact that the defendant had itself produced no real evidence that factors other than race were at work."

In the appeal acted on today, lawyers for Attala County argued that the appeals court ruling "has dramatically and improperly reduced the burden of proof for plaintiffs" in such cases.

Lawyers for the Clinton administration and the black voters who sued urged the justices to reject the county's appeal.

The case is Attala County vs. Teague, 96-1695.

McDonald, secretary-treasurer, The Library Foundation of Hancock County; Bonnie Adamson, Kiln Library Advisory Board; and Ames Kergosien, Library Foundation of Hancock County director.

Money seized

BY RICHARD MEEK
Over $12,000 in cash was seized following a routine traffic stop of a charter bus early Saturday morning.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson said Sgt. Esposito and Deputy David King initiated the traffic stop at 3:13 a.m. Saturday at the 13-mile marker westbound on Interstate 10. Esposito used the canine Argo to search the baggage compartment of the bus.

The canine alerted the officers to a piece of baggage that contained the money in small denominations. The baggage belonged to passenger Arden Jesse Gonzales, Peterson said. Gonzales was briefly detained, then released to continue his journey, Peterson said.

Assisting in the investigation are the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force and the High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Group.

Doll collection on display

The reproduction antique doll collection of Yvonne Griffith is now on display in the display case of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Griffith owns Flowers in the Attic, in which she spends hours creating antique doll reproductions. Her dolls are made with antique fabric and lace.

The attended the University of Southern Mississippi and received a BS degree in home economics and education.

For several years she taught school, but, with the arrival of her children, decided to stay home, and that is when her hobby began.

She sells dolls to people all over the area.

ment systems, or for individuals to install their own package treatment systems.

"I expect the health department to work with people to find a system that works," said Pullman.

"We do and we will," said Pansy Maddox, environmental supervisor with the state Department of Health. She said the department has up to 10 different systems to treat and discharge wastewater and raw sewage, and each site would be evaluated, then a recommendation would be made on whether the site can support a system.

The Health Department promises evaluation of any site within five days.

Maddox said the reason the legislature years ago stopped individual sewerage treatment packages was because "eighty-five percent of the systems weren't being maintained and monitored." This resulted in raw, untreated sewage being discharged into ditches and streams.

Board President Phillip Moran cast the lone vote against the ordinance, and expressed concern that the law "might stifle growth" especially in the western and northern portions of the county, which he represents.

"I'm afraid this is something that might come back to haunt us," said Moran.

"It's a quality of life issue," said Maddox. "How long are we going to continue to allow raw sewage to run into ditches? These are Third World Conditions."

District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner, whose district includes Bayside and Shoreline parks, said his main concern was what kind of help would be provided for people who own postage-stamp-size lots, measuring 50 by 100. The law now states that a septic tank must be 100 feet away from a water well, making it virtually impossible to get Health Department approval to build on a lot that size.

The state Legislature, however, could allow individuals to install individual package treatment systems that discharge the treated waste into ditches or nearby canals, but Maddox said "there would have to be an individual inspector to monitor the situation and make sure they are maintained."

Supervisors voted to petition local representatives to introduce enabling legislation in the upcoming session.

In other business Monday, supervisors will give Grand Lakes subdivision one more chance to gain approval for a mobile home subdivision planned on Cuevavtown Road off Hwy. 603.

Grand Lakes Investments wants to lay out the subdivision on 44 acres, and sell off one-acre lots to accommodate 26 modular homes.

The Planning Commission has given "conditional approval" to allow the development, and placed buffer and other restrictions on developers, but area residents are vehemently opposed.

Karen Necaise, who represents homeowners in the area, told supervisors the development would decrease the value of her home and others in the area, and residents were also concerned about problems with sewerage and water wells.

Supervisors promised to vote on the variance Oct. 16, but Moran said he was leaning toward overriding the Planning Commission's actions.

"I have nothing against mobile homes. I lived in one for eight years," said Moran. Although developers said they plan an "upscale subdivision" with restrictive covenants, Moran said, the mobile home he bought in 1983 "is now worth a lot less than I paid for it," and he agreed with Necaise that their presence in a residential neighborhood serves to decrease property values.

Supervisors also took under advisement two bids received on Phase I construction of the county Marina planned off Pleasure Street in Bayou Caddy.

Malouf Construction Corp., Madisonville, Miss., was the apparent low bidder at $1,103,970. Costmayer Construction, Inc., of Metairie, La., submitted a bid of $1,577,024.

Consultant Bill Johnson of Compton Engineering was instructed to check to see if bid specifications were met, and the Board is likely to award the contract to Costmayer at its recess meeting Oct. 16.

NTF

operating as a three-party cooperative effort. "It's not together?" asked council member Tad Black. "It possibly might not be in the future," replied Moran.

Mayor Eddie Favre said he'd heard only one complaint about the operation -- that it had netted more arrests in the city of Bay St. Louis than outside the city. And there will be more such arrests, the mayor promised.

"If it's not too late" to salvage the Task Force, Moran added. She said Peterson had read her his letter on the telephone Tuesday afternoon. Favre said a deputy delivered him a copy of it Tuesday as well.

Moran said the city should do whatever necessary to keep the Task Force operating as originally planned. We should try to keep the alliance together before we upset the apple cart."

While there was an apparent hesitancy by some officials to discuss the matter fully, there also was apparent confusion by officials over how the task force does operate, how it divides up the drug seizure fund, pays for equipment and operating expenses. In addition, it's not clear whether the sheriff or the county Board of Supervisors could be authorized to back out of the partnership.

Favre said the task force didn't have such a large amount of money in its account until a recent drug bust netted over $500,000 to the coffers.

And he said there have been some recent discussions about selling off some of the vehicles that have been seized, and dividing the revenues.

In an interview Wednesday, Moran said she had made several phone calls and done some research to try to get a complete understanding of what's going on with the task force. While Waveland's police chief James Varnell, told her he's completely happy with the operation, Peterson felt totally different, she said.

Moran said the sheriff told her that the city of Bay St. Louis is not aiding the operation as much as it did in the past, leaving the county to make major drug busts in the unincorporated area and along Interstate 10.

The interstate, Moran noted, is a virtual treasure trove for drug arrests, with major amounts of money and illegal substances being seized. If the cities don't participate in the three-way operation, they stand to lose out on huge benefits from the seizures.

Moran said she told the sheriff she's sympathetic with his position, but at the same time wants very much to keep the task force together.

with both Doyle and Guerra.

He said Doyle went to Guerra's Samos Street house on Sunday and shot Guerra in the back and Jones in the leg. Peterson said Doyle had three guns, including a 12-gauge shotgun, a .357 Magnum and a pistol.

After shooting Guerra and Jones, Doyle went to his son's house on Jeannette Road in Pearlinton and shot himself in the head with the .357 Magnum, Peterson said. He said it is still unclear what guns Doyle used to shoot Guerra and Jones but it has been determined shots were fired from all three guns.

"(Doyle) went to (Guerra's house) to kill someone," Peterson said. "We believe it was a love triangle."

"(Doyle) had a companionship with Jones. Jones was at Guerra's house on Sunday and a similar type of relationship."

Peterson said the case is still under investigation.

Clinic

to supervisors Monday when Coastal's Executive Director, Joe Dawsey, said he was notified "by telephone" that the county's application for funding had been approved.

"In fact, the good news is even better," Dawsey later told the Echo. "We actually got more money than we asked for."

Earlier in the meeting, supervisors grappled with subjects, such as the need for a countywide leash law and sewerage ordinance, so the "good news" was more than welcomed by supervisors.

"Why didn't you raise your hand and come up earlier," quipped Board President Philip Moran. Supervisors adopted a resolution thanking Mississippi's Congressional delegation and all other agencies that were instrumental in landing the federal funding to reopen the clinic.

For the past two years, supervisors had put aside $10,000 in the county's budget in the event the clinic reopened, and they later offered the clinic the use of the old Health Department Building on Dunbar Ave.

Last April, Geraldine Lang and others who have been pushing to reopen the clinic here, toured the building, along with Dawsey and businessman C.C. McDonald.

McDonald estimated it would cost about $80,000 to repair the roof of the building on Dunbar, and to make other renovations.

Dawsey told the Echo that the grant to Hancock County from the U.S. Public Health Service was "around $485,000, although Coastal had requested $400,000 a year. Obviously, it must be for a longer period than a year--maybe 15 months," said Dawsey.

Dawsey said he will await formal confirmation so he can check to see how much of the grant is allowed for renovation.

"Or, we might want to look at another building," Dawsey said.

He told supervisors if all goes well, "The clinic could be operational by January."

Coastal's clinic was closed here in September of 1995 when its Board of Directors decided it was too costly to run it, and not enough revenue was being generated by patients using the services. The closure forced some 3,000 to 4,000 elderly and poor of Hancock County to travel from the far reaches of Hancock County to clinics that Coastal operates in Harrison County.

Casino expansion

Grand Casino Gulfport held a ground-breaking ceremony Wednesday for its new Oasis Hotel. The facility will have at least 500 rooms and will feature nearly three acres of pool and water areas. It is located on Highway 90 directly across from the Preservation Oaks Park. Participating in the event are Larry Benefield, left, president of the Harrison County Board of Supervisors; James Heidel, executive director, MS Dept. of Economic Community Development; Rob Wyre, general manager Grand Casino Gulfport; Tom Brosig, president Grand Casinos, Inc.; and Bob Short, mayor of Gulfport. ## Grand breaks ground for new resort hotel

Grand Casino Gulfport is expanding its property on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The groundbreaking ceremony for the newest addition, The Oasis Hotel at Grand Casino Gulfport, took place yesterday on Highway 90 directly across from Grand Casino Gulfport and the Preservation Oaks Park.

The Gulfport property now features a 100,000 sq. ft. casino, 45,000 sq. ft. three-story entertainment center, America Live!, five restaurants, and a 400-room luxury high-rise beachfront hotel. The existing hotel was the first high-rise hotel to be built in Gulfport since 1927 and opened in October 1995. Grand Casino Gulfport opened May 1993.

The new facility will feature at least 500 new rooms with a variety of suites, a full-service 17,000 sq. ft. spa and fitness center, and nearly three acres of pool and water areas including a rolling, lazy river running throughout the complex.

The Oasis Hotel at Grand Casino Gulfport will have a sprawling campus-like style and the 11 buildings will each contain approximately 100 rooms. This addition will be a complement to the existing hotel at Grand Casino Gulfport and will further enhance the City of Gulfport and the Mississippi Gulf Coast as a complete destination resort.

Grand Casinos on the Mississippi Gulf Coast will have an inventory of approximately 2,000 rooms with the addition of the new hotel. The Oasis Hotel at Grand Casino Gulfport is expected to be complete Fall 1998.

Rob Wyre, general manager of Grand Casino Gulfport, said, "The master plan of Grand Casinos continues to be realized and we are committed to providing exceptional facilities and amenities to our guests and visitors to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. We are pleased to be an integral part of the growth establishing the Coast as a premiere destination resort."

To date, Grand Casinos Inc. has made over $400 million in capital investments on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The addition of The Oasis Hotel at Grand Casino Gulfport will increase this investment another $50 million. With the completion of the new expansion at Grand Casino Biloxi and the addition of the Jack Nicklaus designed golf course, the company's total investment on the Gulf Coast will be over a half billion dollars.

Grand Casinos Inc. has been a publicly traded company since 1991 and is listed on the New York Stock Exchange under the trading symbol GND. The company currently owns and operates the three largest casino hotel resorts in the state of Mississippi, manages two large land-based casinos in Louisiana, and manages two large casino hotel resorts in Minnesota.

August home sales up over last year

Although Mississippi home sales began the traditional seasonal slowdown in August, home sales for the month were up 39 units over the month last year. Mississippi REALTORS® closed 1,214 homes in August 1997, up from 1,175 homes sold in August of last year.

Mississippi Association of REALTORS® president, John M. Dean, Jr. of Leland says the healthy sales are the result of a number of positive economic factors.

Mortgage interest rates are still imptingly low, while consumers' confidence levels remain high," says Dean. "For the first time in years, people feel secure with their jobs and that makes them more comfortable with the idea of purchasing a home." Dean adds that Mississippi's unemployment rate remains low, averaging 5.5 percent over the past 12 months.

The North DeSoto Area showed the largest rise in home sales in August with a 46 unit increase over July. Other areas of the state showing increases over July were Laurel and Tupelo.

Oxford had the highest average home sales price at $105,173 for August, while North DeSoto has the highest average year-to-date home sale price. Natchez had the lowest average home sales price for August, at $62,085. Statewide, the average selling price for a home during the month of August was $90,825. The year-to-date average selling price is $86,606.

Average statewide statistics: current month, August 1997, Total homes sold: 1,214; Last month, July 1997, Total homes sold: 1,242; Last year, August 1996, Total homes sold: 1,175; Year-to-date, Total homes sold: 11,410;

Cellular phones must be reprogrammed

With the introduction of the new 228 area code in the three-county Mississippi Gulf Coast area, Cellular South officials have announced their implementation plan for reprogramming Harrison, Hancock and Jackson County customers' cellular phones.

According to Jim Richmond, area manager for the telecommunications company, Cellular South has put substantial planning into introducing the new area code.

"Because of the area code change, all cellular phones must be reprogrammed with the new area code. Cellular South's primary goals are:

"1. to communicate to our customers that they must have the new 228 area code programmed into their cellular phone by a Cellular South representative before the one year permissive dialing period ends and

"2. to streamline this process to be as easy and convenient as possible for our customers," he added.

"As always, Cellular South is focused on quality customer care and we think this plan reflects those standards," he added.

"It's also important for cellular customers to remember that 10-digit dialing (area code + seven digit number) will be necessary when calling outside their area code for either their cellular or residential number. This includes calls to and from Stone County, whose area code will remain 601," said Richmond.

Cellular South has organized teams of employees, known as Team 228, that will be located strategically throughout the Coastal market to program the new area code into customers' phones.

"Team 228 employees will concentrate only on taking care of customers who need phones reprogrammed. These specially trained employees will be located in all of our Phones & More Stores in the Gulf Coast market, as well as all of our Wal-Mart locations throughout the area," said Richmond.

"For added convenience, we'll place Team 228 employees at many special events and high traffic areas throughout the Coast in the next few months. For large corporate accounts, we'll actually bring Team 228 employees on-site to reprogram their phone," he added.

Cellular South customers may find out more information about the new 228 area code and how it relates to their cellular service by dialing #228 from their cellular phone.

"This is a free call for customers and will provide information on the area code split and special events that the company has planned for customers," said Carroll Blackledge, director of marketing at Cellular South.

"In addition, an advertising campaign including radio and newspaper will be launched to inform customers of the reprogramming process," he added.

'Toast to the Coast' set for Friday

A 40th anniversary limited edition Boston Whaler will be the showcase item up for auction at the 14th annual Toast to the Coast Friday, Oct. 10 in Pass Christian.

The gala fund-raising event benefitting Coast Episcopal School begins at 6:30 p.m. at 533 E. Scenic Drive. This year's theme is "Celebrate the Coast" with over 30 Gulf Coast restaurants and caterers serving specialty dishes.

The 13-foot Classic, donated by Breath's Boats & Marine of Bay St. Louis, comes with a custom brass plate identifying the unit number and a limited edition watercolor print numbered and signed by the artist.

Among the auction highlights are a golf weekend at the Grand Hotel in Point Clear, Ala., a miniature Saints football helmet autographed by Mike Ditka, a New Orleans getaway with hotel and dinner, a day trip to Horn Island on a private yacht, dinner for eight at Armand's, and an award-winning handmade poplar and walnut table. Mark C. Romig will be the professional auctioneer. A separate silent auction will also be ongoing.

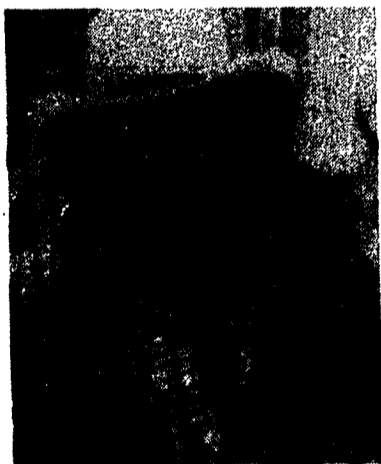

The live auction is only part of the evening's fun. Music by Rockin' Dopsie Jr. and the Zydeco Twisters, the Algiers Brass Band and St. Rose de Lima Choir will keep the over 1,000 expected guests entertained throughout the evening.

Dopsie Jr. and his band, which includes two brothers, are the greatest living practitioners of the genre and have performed in concerts around the world. Dopsie Jr. is considered to be the best rub-board player in the world, stunning audiences with his electrifying stage performance.

An important part of the evening is showcasing the work of over 30 local Gulf Coast artists. The juried art show will be judged by Clayton Bass, executive director of the Walter Anderson Museum in Ocean Springs. The artists will donate a 15 percent commission to Coast Episcopal School on all art work purchased that evening.

Limited edition serigraph posters, signed and numbered by Bay St. Louis architect Kevin Fitzpatrick, are available. Posters cost $25, T-shirts are $22 in adult sizes.

Tickets for Toast to the Coast are $60 in advance, $65 at the door. Call 452-9442 or 467-5125 for information or to place an order. Black tie is optional for the evening.

Battered women

The Gulf Coast Women's Center for Nonviolence would like to introduce Brenda Monroe as community outreach social worker for Hancock County.

Monroe has a BGS in psychology from William Carey College and is presently completing a master's of arts degree in counseling with an emphasis on women's issues.

As community outreach social worker, Monroe will assist victims of domestic violence by providing counseling and referrals in the areas of health, housing, education, legal services and social benefits.

She will be in the Hancock County area on Wednesday mornings at the Youth Court Building. Please feel free to contact her at 1-800-800-1396 for an appointment or any additional information.

Fall weekend features many events

A Place of Art VI

Featured artists Andrea Loiacano, left, visits with Melanie Loiacano, Gwen Meyers, and Pam Parker at the patron's party of the annual A Place of Art VI held this past weekend at the Bay St. Louis Depot. The exhibit featured the works of more than 30 regional and internationally known artists. The purpose of A Place of Art is to recognize the roll of art in enhancing the quality of life in a community, to promote the arts, establish public art and procure a museum for the arts. ### OLA food fest

Performers

Children's Art Festival

Enjoying the day

Walk-America

Several hundred area residents participated in Hancock County's Walk-America (Someone You Love) last Saturday. The walk began at the Hancock County Courthouse and ended at Buccaneer State Park. The walkers collected pledges for the walk. (Echo staff photo by Randy Ponder)

Bob Harmon Football Forecast

NFL Forecast Sunday and Monday, Oct. 12-13

**Arizona, 14-N.Y. Giants, 13
(Sunday) The Giants beat the Cardinals for the third time in a row in N.Y. last year, 16-8, then lost 31-23 in Arizona. Neither offense is moving the ball far, and the defenses aren't much better.

Green Bay, 32-Chicago, 16
Six weeks ago the Packers won their seventh straight over the Bears, 38-24. With a ground game not yet firing on all cylinders, G.B. will shred the porous Chicago defense through the air.

**Jacksonville, 24-Philadelphia 20
Here's a potentially explosive first meeting ever between two solid, talented teams. If the Eagles can pressure the pass and stay with Jacksonville's receivers, they'll stay in the game.

Miami, 21-N.Y. Jets, 19
Though the Dolphins got by the Jets twice, in '96, the Week 17 score, 31-28, may have been a preview of Miami's struggles this year. The Dolphins have won five of their last six against N.Y.

**Minnesota, 19-Carolina, 17
In their first matchup ever last year, the Vikings defense forced six Panthers turnovers in a 14-12 win. This year Minnesota has the offense and Carolina the defense. Another close one.

**New England, 28-Buffalo, 14
The Bills ended the three-game losing streak against the Patriots with a 17-10 victory in their first '96 matchup, then lost at Foxboro, 28-25. N.E. has no weaknesses for Buffalo to exploit.

**New Orleans, 20-Atlanta, 12

With two of the weakest offenses in the NFL, the Saints and Falcons may put the Superdome crowd to sleep — or they may have a terrific battle. They're fighting for fourth in the NFC West.

**Pittsburgh, 27-Indianapolis, 10
Winners of their last seven games against the Colts, the Steelers pummeled them in a wild-card playoff game last year, 42-14. Pittsburgh's running attack may render Indianapolis helpless.

**San Francisco, 23-St. Louis 13
In Week Two the 49ers won their 14th in a row over the Rams in a mistake-filled game, 15-12. S.F. is hardly an offensive power, but all it will take to beat St. Louis is a stingy defense.

**Tampa Bay, 28-Detroit, 14
Led by Warrick Dunn's 130 yards of rushing, the Buccaneers beat the Lions 24-17 five weeks ago. If T.B. limits Detroit's passing attack, it will sweep the Lions for the first time since '90.

**Tennessee, 32-Cincinnati, 28
The Oilers can score on the ground against the Bengals' woeful run defense, and Cincy can score with the pass, which Tennessee can't stop. They've split their last three divisional series.

Dallas, 18-Washington, 16
(Monday) In '96 the Cowboys beat Washington 21-10 in Dallas and the Redskins retaliated at home, 37-10 — their third win in their last four games with Dallas. This shapes up as a defensive struggle.

** denotes home team
(Open date: Baltimore, Denver, Kansas City, Oakland, San Diego, Seattle)

College Highlights for Oct. 11

There's a score to be settled on Saturday in State College, Pa., when Penn State hosts Ohio State in a huge Big Ten battle. In their confrontation last year in Columbus, Ohio, the third-ranked Buckeyes beat up on the fourth-ranked Nittany Lions 38-7, the fifth-worst loss in coach Joe Paterno's 31 years at Penn State.

His Lions punted on all seven first-half possessions, didn't cross midfield until the second minute of the third quarter, didn't score until the final six minutes and were outgained 565 yards to 211.

This weekend, however, the Ohio State defense won't have such an easy time of it against one of the most productive offenses in the country. In a tight game, we like Penn State by six points.

Fans of the LSU Tigers are hoping once again that their game against Florida will challenge the status quo in the Southeastern Conference, but once again they'll be disappointed: The Gators will win by 16 in Baton Rouge, La.

That will be a vast improvement on the Tigers' performance a year ago, though, when No. 1 Florida stomped No. 12 LSU 56-13 in Gainesville, Fla., building a 36-point lead by halftime. While holding the vaunted Tigers running game to just 28 yards, the Gators ran wild, with 308 yards on the ground and 635 altogether. LSU hasn't beaten Florida since 1987, in a series the Gators lead 22-18-3.

Tennessee and Georgia play another big Southeastern game that will figure in the national rankings. The Bulldogs started the season strong, but they'll get whipped by the Volunteers in Knoxville, Tenn. Tennessee QB Payton Manning tore up Georgia's defense last season in Athens, Ga., completing 31 of 41 passes for 371 yards as the Vols scored TD's on their first three possessions of the second half and iced their sixth in a row over the Bulldogs, 29-17.

When it comes to archrivalries, none are hotter than Texas-Oklahoma and Michigan-Northwestern. And, as we found out in '96, neither is easy to predict. Last year, supposedly mediocre Oklahoma stunned No. 25 Texas 30-27 in overtime, rallying from 11 points behind to pull off one of the rivalry's biggest upsets. (We'd picked the Longhorns to win by 26 points.)

A week earlier, 22nd-ranked Northwestern had shocked sixth-ranked Michigan 17-16, coming back from 16 points down in the fourth quarter. (We'd picked Michigan, of course.) This time around we're not very bravely predicting the same winners, and only one, Michigan, looks solid.

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Richard Meek

Casino Magic chairman Marlin Torguson has felt the pain of losing someone to leukemia. The disease claimed his brother at the age of 28 and his best friend at the age of 42.

So it comes as little surprise that Torguson has decided to sponsor a tournament to benefit the Mississippi Leukemia Society. Torguson's Leukemia Pro-Am Golf Tournament is scheduled for Oct. 27 at The Bridges Golf Resort at the Magic.

"I've never sponsored a charity tournament before," Torguson said at a press conference on Tuesday at the Magic. "But this sounded like fun, and it's for a good cause."

Each foursome will be paired with a club professional from the Gulf States Section of the PGA. Course designer Arnold Palmer will spend the entire day at the tournament, and the Palmer Golf Academy will host a clinic at 9:30 a.m.

Mississippi Leukemia Society President Tony Huffman said the proceeds from the tournament will remain in Mississippi. The society recently opened a Gulf Coast branch.

"It's important for us to be established on the Coast," Huffman said. "There is such a need to be here."

"Without events such as this tournament, it would not be possible for the Leukemia Society of America to assist and treat persons afflicted with leukemia and related cancers."

Joey Galaski is 24 and a 1995 graduate of the Naval Academy. Two years ago, he was diagnosed with leukemia.

"I'm just happy to be alive," he said. "My young eyes have seen a lot. I have seen what the disease can do."

"I have a lot of friends who are not here today because of the disease."

On a personal note, the tournament also has a special meaning. Four years ago, a good friend and an outstanding amateur golfer in New Orleans died of leukemia.

"For several years, this individual fought personal battles and the mini-tours before settling in as a two-time city champion. But the disease struck him at the height of his career.

For more information on the tournament, call (601) 981-9343.

The debate concerning the waving of Rebel flags at Ole Miss football games has gone national. But it is far from settled.

There are still some misguided, racist individuals insistent on hanging onto the most embarrassing chapter of the South's treasured history. Unfortunately, their flag waving is costing the school they profess to love so dearly opportunities to sign some of the country's top recruits.

Does any African-American really want to play for a school where fans embrace an icon that celebrates the oppression of an entire race?

There can be no denying the Rebel flag is the second most racist symbol in the country today, ranking a close second to a hooded sheet. It is a reminder of slavery, a time when African-Americans were often treated as less than human.

Slavery is a scourge the South will have to live with ad infinitum. The waving of the Rebel flag only perpetuates those wretched times.

However, the flag may only be a symptom of a more serious problem. If officials are really concerned about the school's identity, then serious consideration should be given to changing the school's nickname.

By their very nature, the name Rebels and the Johnny Reb mascot, resplendent in his Confederate uniform, scream racism. Why not change the mascot and nickname to something more ethnically encompassing?

Mississippi State has the Bulldogs, Southern Miss the Golden Eagles. Even Alabama, another school deeply rooted in the Old South, is known as the Crimson Tide, and has a ridiculous looking elephant as its mascot.

Universities elsewhere have changed nicknames that could be perceived as offensive to the Native American population. Ole Miss should follow their example, and through a poll of Mississippi citizens, decide on a nickname and mascot that is more appropriate to today's climate.

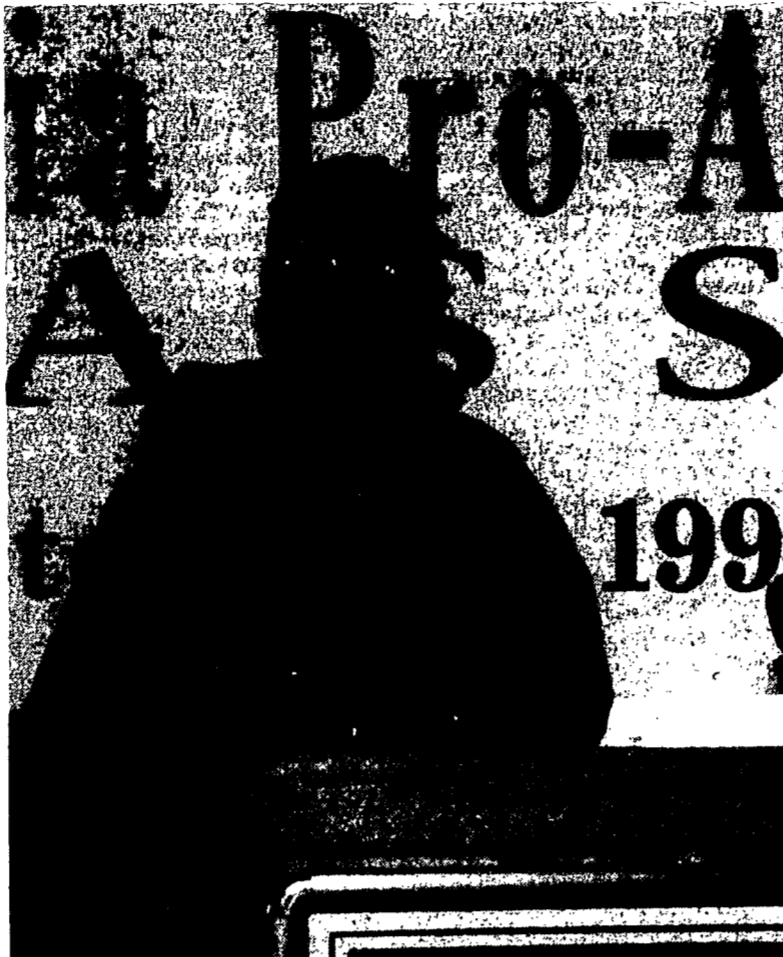

Slavery died a long time ago. Unfortunately, racism is still a cancer prevalent in today's society, especially by those with Rebel flags in their hands.

Friday Forecast
Bay High at Petal — A lack of discipline cost the Tigers a shot at their first win of the year. A road game to Petal presents little opportunity to break a six-game losing streak. Petal 24, Bay High 6

St. Stanislaus at Pearl River Central — The Rocks showed vast improvement against Hancock but took a step back in a 34-0 drubbing to Columbia last week. SSC has scored touchdowns in only two games this year. More may be on the way this week, but not that elusive first victory. PRC 20, Stanislaus 14

Bay jr high; Hawk JV win

Bay High's junior high ran its record to 4-1 with a 14-0 shutout of Hancock Junior High Monday at Bay High.

The shutout was the Tigers' fourth of the year.

Bay High used a bit of razzle dazzle on its first score when halfback Charles Hawkins threw a 71-yard pass to Gary Vincent. Quarterback Terrace Thomas converted the two-point conversion.

Vincent returned a fumble 31 yards in the fourth quarter for Bay High's second score. Tim Wright also recovered a fumble.

Ray Ncaise, Thomas and Guy Alleman had interceptions for the Tigers, who play Pearl Central Monday at home at 5:30. PRC is the only team to have scored on Bay High this year.

In junior varsity play, Hancock won its fifth consecutive game with a 20-0 blanking of Bay High.

Chris Payne scored on an eight-yard run, Chris Goff on a 62-yard run and Jerry Carco on a 23-yard run for the Hawks, 5-0.

Sea Wolves tourney

The Bridges at Casino Magic is the site of the First Mississippi Sea Wolves Shootout, scheduled for Oct. 14.

The entrance fee is $125 per player, or $100 per player for season ticket holders. The fee includes green fee, cart, practice balls, an awards dinner catered by Outback Steakhouse, and two tickets to the Sea Wolves game on Oct. 21.

The format is a five-man scramble, with each team comprised of four entrants and a Sea Wolves player or representative.

A 1 p.m. shotgun start is scheduled.

The tournament will benefit the American Cancer Society. For more information, call the American Cancer Society at 896-7024.

PRCC Wildcats eye longtime rival Perkinston

One of the keenest rivalries in the history of Mississippi community college football resumes in Perkinston Saturday when Pearl River's Wildcats take on the Mississippi Gulf Coast Bulldogs in A. L. May Stadium.

The annual Wildcat-Bulldog battle sees both teams enter the game off South Division losses. PRCC fell 26-6 to East Central last Thursday at Decatur, while MGCCC fell to Southwest 28-10 in Perkinston on Saturday. The Wildcats are 2-3 overall, 0-2 in the division, while the Bulldogs are 1-4 overall and 0-1.

Third-year Wildcat head coach Keith Daniels says the Bulldogs are "much better than their record indicates."

"I know that first hand," said Daniels, who witnessed Gulf Coast's 25-21 win over Jones Sept. 27 and its 28-10 loss to Southwest this past Saturday. "They beat a good, solid football team in Jones and with a couple of breaks, they could've easily defeated Southwest."

Southwest ramblod for 567 total yards (532 on the ground) in Sept. 25's 42-14 romp over The River, but the Bulldogs held the Bears to only 198 total offensive yards last Saturday, while Perk mustered 327.

"Southwest didn't run up and down the field on them like it was expected," Daniels said.

Gulf Coast head coach Steve Wright touted his Bulldogs' defensive play against the Bears. "Our entire defensive unit played well enough to win. We just couldn't get the ball into the endzone when we needed to," Wright said.

Bulldog sophomore quarterback Kelvin Robinson connected on 16 of 28 aeriels for 166 yards against Southwest. Against PRCC a year ago, the Bulldogs generated 450 yards of total offense, including 252 passing yards from Robinson. In that game, then-freshman completed 18 of 36 passes, with one interception, while Pearl River sophomore QB Shane Tapper completed 19 of 30 (one interception) for 205 yards.

In 1996, Wildcat wide receiver Willie Duckworth, who will return to the lineup this Saturday after a two-game layoff because of a broken finger, snagged 11 Tapper aeriels for 127 yards and a TD, while the Wildcats mustered only 55 yards on the ground against the 'Dogs in '96, with then-freshman running back Bud Haralson garnering 42 of the total on 10 carries.

In last year's battle, Pearl River led 23-14 with 1:29 left in the third quarter, but Perk retaliated with two fourth quarter TDs by Reginald Hunter to take the four-point victory.

Daniels said his Wildcats have reached a reckoning point of the 1997 season.

"As a team, we've got a lot of maturing to do and have to face up to the fact that we haven't played very well the past two games," Daniels said. "If we expect to beat Gulf Coast, our concentration and level of intensity has to improve, particularly against a team the caliber of Gulf Coast."

Gulf Coast opened 1997 with a string of three losses (34-12 to Itawamba, 27-22 to East Mississippi, 20-14 to Mississippi Delta) before whipping Jones 25-21 Sept. 27.

Pearl River, on the other hand, opened with an impressive 25-7 win over Northeast at Poplarville, but fell to Northwest 24-18 the second week at Senatobia. The Wildcats rebounded with an emotional 27-21 victory over Itawamba — just five days after an auto accident claimed the life of starting tight end Juan Mariner of Prentiss and ended the season of starting linebacker Freddie White of Lumberton. Southwest pounded PRCC 42-14 in Poplarville Sept. 25.

1997's game marks the 65th meeting between the two schools with PRCC holding a 40-24 edge (one tie). Pearl River won 21-14 in 1995, while Gulf Coast won 25-14 in 1994, breaking a seven-year winning streak by the Wildcats.

1993's 64-20 Wildcat win at Perkinston was the sixth-highest point total ever scored by a PRCC team. The Wildcats generated a whopping 612 yards of total offense (third-highest total ever) and boasted 30 first downs (three-way tie for all-time high).

From 1977 until 1986, Perk lost only twice to their South Division Rivals — 21-20 in 1977 and 14-10 in 1981. During that time span, Gulf Coats claimed four state titles (1980, 1982, 1984, 1986) and one national title (1984) under former coach George Sekul. Sekul is the National Junior College Athletic Association's all-time winningest coach with a record of 204-77 with five ties. The Bulldogs also won state titles in 1974, 1971, 1967, and 1966 under Sekul, including another national championship in 1971.

Besides Duckworth, defensive back Derrick Rankin and offensive lineman Derrick Franklin are expected to return to the lineup after a week's layoff due to injuries. Defensive lineman Chris Johnson, who sat out the Southwest loss with a severely sprained ankle, saw only limited action against East Central last week, but could be back at full speed against Gulf Coast.

"We're taking it day to day," Daniels said of the defensive trio. "We'll make a decision on the playing time of those three as the week goes on."

A 7 p.m. kickoff is set for Saturday.

Favre blasts defensive tactics

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brett Favre, the two-time MVP, says some players are out to injure him by going after his knees.

"I understand this game is a tough game, but there's times guys go after your legs and you watch it on film and you go, 'That's totally uncalled for,'" Favre said. "I respect this game the way people play it, but when you kind of go out of the lines of the rules, it's not right. You can end a guy's career."

Favre said that's one reason why he uncharacteristically declined to talk to reporters after the Green Bay Packers' 26-15 loss at Detroit two weeks ago. He said he was upset by his poor performance but also by some of the Lions' tactics, so rather than blast them for it, he went silent.

Later in the week, however, he didn't hold back.

Favre said he also was furious over helmet-first hits that Lions free safety Mark Carrier delivered to receivers Don Beebe and Robert Brooks. To make matters worse, Beebe's head was snapped back by linebacker Stephen Boyd after being hit by Carrier. Beebe was knocked unconscious.

"Heck, they could have called a penalty on that play," Favre said. "The guy speared him with his helmet. The other guy is choking him. At one point, it looked like Don was going to die. The guy wasn't breathing, his neck was turned to the side."

"Then some of their guys are coming over to say, 'Hey, is he OK?' Other guys were saying, 'Way to knock him out,' and that type of stuff," Favre said. "I don't play the game that way."

Favre said that early in the game a defender went for his knees. Although he didn't name him, he was referring to a low hit by second-year lineman Kerwin Waldroup on the Packers' seventh snap.

"It looks like on film that my legs were cut off," Favre said. "Now, they can say what they want to say and I'm not just talking about Detroit. Football in general. We see it all the time. And I don't complain about it."

"It's just frustrating at times ... and I don't think it will ever change. But you hate to see a guy end his career because of something like that."

Favre said he didn't mean to single out the Lions and that he could point to similar plays every Sunday.

"It's happened basically every game," he said. "And sometimes it's an accident. A guy comes in and gets pushed and he falls at your legs. But, sometimes you watch it on film and a guy comes in, he's got a clean shot at you. Boom! He goes for your legs. It's pretty obvious what they're doing when that happens."

Favre said he didn't know if players were being coached to rush him low because he's so adept at sidestepping and slipping blitzers.

"I would hope a coach wouldn't do that, but there are some coaches in the league that probably do," he said. "That's one of the reasons I throw the way I do. I throw and back up and hop and do all that stuff."

"Whether or not coaches coach it, I don't know. But I'd hate to see a guy end his career, a season, because of something that could be avoided."

Favre took exception when it was suggested that defenders might aim low because if they hit high, they'll be fined like Denver linebacker Bill Romanowski, who broke Kerry Collins' jaw in the preseason.

"You can go high!" Favre said. "You just don't use the top of your helmet. You can go as high as you want."

Beebe, who sat out the Packers' 21-16 victory over Tampa Bay on Sunday, said that he had no intentions of retiring after the sixth concussion of his nine-year career.

"I'm fine," Beebe said. "It's something where you feel fine, but if you were to take another blow ... It's kind of like you put an egg in a pan when you just opened it up from the shell and it's in there and if you touch it right away, the yolk will burst."

"But if you let it cook for a while and let it set and let it harden, then it'll take a bigger poke. That's the way my head is right now," Beebe said. "They have to wait until the swelling goes down in my head and determine after a week or so."

Beebe said he will probably wear a mouthguard from now on, too, to help absorb the impact of hits.

USM weary of East Carolina

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Mississippi coach Jeff Bower said his team should still be wary of East Carolina, even though Conference USA's marquee matchup has lost some of its luster.

East Carolina (1-3), the pre-season C-USA favorite, has suffered consecutive shutout losses. The Pirates are coming off a 56-0 loss to Syracuse last weekend.

Bower said his team, which shared the inaugural C-USA title last year, can't afford a letdown.

"There better not be (a letdown). If there is we will be embarrassed," Bower said Monday during his weekly press conference.

"Our players have a lot of respect for the East Carolina program and the way they have been. They have been to three bowl games in the 1990s and knocked us out of a bowl game, so our players know who East Carolina is."

While East Carolina will be playing its C-USA opener, Southern Miss (3-2) sent a message to the other league teams with a dominating 42-24 victory over Louisville last weekend. The Golden Eagles led 42-10 in the final minute.

"Overall, we had our best game of the year when you look at how we played in each phase of the game," said Bower.

As for East Carolina's struggles, Bower said "it is difficult to figure out. They have good players, good talent. Offensively, they have been real close to making plays. There has just been a lack of execution here or there, or a dropped pass or whatever."

The East Carolina game will mark a landmark of sorts for Southern Miss quarterback Lee Roberts.

Roberts has started 11 games, the equivalent of a full season, since taking over the starting role in the East Carolina game last season.

Roberts set a school record with 13 straight completions and finished 14-of-16 as the Eagles won 28-7 in his first start. He has thrown at least one TD pass in all 11 of his starts.

Bower said Roberts is a better quarterback than at the same point a year ago.

"He understands what we are doing so much better, and understands defenses," Bower said. "He continues to be real accurate throwing the ball. He is doing everything we want him to do without our offense."

The Top 20

ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are Mississippi's top high school football teams, regardless of class, as selected by a panel of 22 Associated Press state sports writers and sportscasters in the sixth regular season poll of 1997.

Points awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for The Top 20, and on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis for The Little 10, which is for Classes 2A and 1A schools and academies. First-place votes in parentheses.

Prayer to the Blessed Virgin (Never Known to Fail)

Oh, most beautiful flower of Mt. Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven. Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. Oh Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my Mother.

Oh, Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in my necessity (make request).

There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary, conceived without sin pray for us who have recourse to thee (three times).

Holy Mary, I place this prayer in your hands (three times).

For many prayers answered. K.S.

Kosbab wins first Street Stock feature of the season

Owen Kosbab and Bryan Cuevas had the field of Street Stock for the start of the feature race. Kosbab claimed the lead on the start with Cuevas bringing out a caution in the early going sending him to the rear of the pack.

Rodney Barber moved in behind Kosbab and applied the pressure, but was unable to take the lead from Kosbab as they raced for the checkers. Cuevas managed to work his way back into the third spot over Terry Cuevas and Steve Pate II. Matt Fortenberry and Louis Warren won earlier heat races.

Larry Cifra, last week's winner, was fast qualifier and shared the front row with Scott Holt in a 13-car field of Pro Stocks. Holt and Cifra raced side by side on the first lap with Holt nosing out Cifra at the flag stand.

Randy Eaton brought out the first caution as he collected up heat winner Chet Morrison sending both to the rear for a single file restart. Holt lead every lap with Cifra giving chase as they made their way to the checkers. Rodney Bruce worked his way into third place from a fourth row starting position. Heat winner Chris Bilbo finished fourth over Eaton.

Chuckie Smith had a perfect night winning both heat and feature race in the IMCA division. Tracy Brown, substituting for Donald Parker in the Tubbs Marine number 99 moved from a third row starting spot to second place. Brown was unable to make a pass on Smith as he held off a hard-charging Ricky Head on their way to the finish line.

Tracy Brown jumped from his IMCA ride into his own late model for the next feature race. Mike Ladner and Billy Joe Schonewitz shared the front row with Brown and Bubba Schonewitz starting from the second row. Bubba was charged with a caution as he and Ladner got together on the first lap sending both to the rear of the restart. Billy Joe moved into the lead on the green flag lap with Brown in hot pursuit. Brown and Billy Joe were rubbing on each other from the start with only five laps remaining. Schonewitz's number 81 went up in smoke as his motor let go on the front straight.

Brown was between Schonewitz and the front wall as the two got together, putting Brown into the wall while Schonewitz coasted into the pit area. Brown was able to continue, although he sustained damage to the suspension of his car.

With only a couple of laps remaining, Brown was unable to hold onto the lead with the damage done to this steering. Jamie Luzenberg, Verlon Lee, Bubba and Ladner moved past Brown as the checkers flew. This was the second feature win for Luzenberg and the Cospolich racing team this season. Brown did win the earlier heat race. Phil Howard won both heat and feature races in the Rookie Class giving him two feature wins in a row. Michael Beech and Danny Lee rounded up the top three.

Next Saturday, Oct. 11, will feature Sun Coast Speedway and Pepsi's Mississippi State Championship with additional prize money and trophies in all classes.

PRCC golf tournament

America's largest block party, 'Cruisin' the Coast' starts today

Classic Chevys, Mustangs, Corvettes, Thunderbirds and 30 other vintage models from across the country are heading to the Mississippi Gulf Coast for the 2nd Annual Cruisin' the Coast Oct. 9-12.

More than 600 cars enthusiasts form 25 states in all corners of the U.S., including California, New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Florida have pre-registered their classic cars to come for a weekend full of free live entertainment, automobile displays and cruises, an automobile swap-meet and flea market, food jamborees, casino events, and a chance to win their share of $15,000 in cash prizes.

"We are anticipating over 1,000 classic cars to cruise the Mississippi Gulf Coast during this year's event, said Stephen B. Richer, executive director, Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau.

"While we are just in our second year of this annual affair, the awareness and participation generated for Cruisin' the Coast has already exceeded all expectations. It is just another example of the variety of first class special events the area has to offer the visitor."

Dubbed "America's Largest Block Party," this year's Cruisin' the Coast will play host to activities showcased along the 26-miles of Mississippi Gulf Coast beach including central Cruisin' the Coast locations at J. L. Scott Marine Education Center in Biloxi; Coast Coliseum & Convention Center, also in Biloxi; Gulfport's Rice Pavilion; and Old Town Bay St. Louis.

Cruisers will have the opportunity to visit these "Show-n-Shine" sites from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10 and Saturday, Oct. 11, where they can be entertained by live music while meandering among spectacular custom and classic cars. Several classic cars from the world-famous Imperial Palace Hotel & Casino will also be on display.

Additional viewing sites for the cars will be Thursday, Oct. 9, 11 a.m.-2 p.m. at the Hancock Bank Plaza in Gulfport, Thursday late afternoon at Rice Pavilion, and the Mass Cruise-in from all sites at the Coast Coliseum & Convention Center, Saturday, Oct. 11, 4-6 p.m.

Car enthusiasts will rock-n-roll to the great sounds of Chubby Checker, Jan & Dean, Little Anthony & The Imperials, The Drifters, Percy Sledge, Little Feat, WAR, The Georgia Satellites and other acts from the '60s and '70. Several Coast casinos will also feature nostalgic acts and host many exciting themed casino events and tournaments.

The event kicks off at 5 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 9 with the official Cruisin' the Coast welcome party held at the Grand Casino Biloxi.

The party will have live music, free malts and an opportunity to preview some of the classic cars. The final event of the 2nd Annual Cruisin' the Coast will be the drawing for prizes at 2 p.m. at Gulfport's Rice Pavilion.

"Be there or be square."
